ODD MIX-UP AT BRIGHTON.

RECALL FLAG WAVED.

Martin, on Devout, Pulls Up, but Stewards Do Not Interfere.

The mistake of the man who wields the recall flag caused a tremendous commotion at the Brighton Beach racetrack yesterday, and might easily have resulted in a riot had it not been for the coolness of the stewards of the meeting. The incident occurred while the horses were at the post for the fifth race, a handicap, at one mile and a furlong.

There were seven starters, with P. Dunne's three-year-old colt, Devout, backed from a "good thing," at four, to a red hot favorite, at two. Mr. Cassidy caught the group in good alignment and raised the barrier, which, in nine cases in ten, means a start. In case of an accident, however, a man with a recall flag is stationed twenty yards from the starting stand, and when he waves this flag the jockeys are supposed to pull up and return to the starting point.

For some reason or other this flag was waved conspicuously after the barrier had been released and Mr. Cassidy had called to the riders to "come on." "Jack" Martin, on Devout, and Miller, on Marmee, were the only two who saw or heeded the flag, and while the other five went on, Martin pulled up deliberately and turned back, while Miller hesitated long enough to get beaten, and then went out to catch the flying field.

With Devout out of the contest, Bad News, the second choice and the top weight, had little difficulty in winning from Stamping Ground and Chimney Sweep. As the horses passed the deciding pole a great crowd collected around the official stand and clamored to have the race declared "no contest" and run over again.

Martin went before the judges and told them that he had pulled up because he had heard Mr. Cassidy call to the field to come back and had also seen the recall flag. The starter assured the stewards that he had not called the boys to come back, and put the responsibility on the patrons of the track stand, who, he asserted, were constantly calling to the jockeys when the start was made from this point. He had not seen the assistant use the flag and could not account for Martin pulling up.

After this explanation the stewards had no other alternative than to call the start a go and to place the horses as they finished. It was one of the few cases of this nature that have occurred since the barrier superseded the old method of starting races.

The downfall of favorites continued with the same disastrous regularity that has characterized the Brighton Beach meeting for the last ten years, and not one landed home in time for supporters to visit the clubhouse.

Frederick Johnson's Schuylkill, second choice to H. B. Duryea's Rose of Dawn, raced that fast in its submission in the Sea Gull Stakes, at six furlongs, and won by a wide margin. Three of the fillies named to start were withdrawn, and the only semblance of a field was made by the addition of Belle of Setauket. She was obviously added to the race.

That ancient cripple Walter Cleary, which has been reported as hopelessly broken down at least six times a year for the last six years, was re-habilitated long enough to win a selling handicap steeplechase over the short course, and had little difficulty in disposing of his field.

PADDOCK PARAGRAPHS.

James McCarthy, one of the Pinkerton policemen stationed at the Brighton Beach track, had his leg broken yesterday in attempting to pull the steeplechase Seventh Ward off Bernhart, on whom he had fallen. The policeman was taken to a nearby hospital, while the jockey returned unhurt to the paddock.

The committee representing the owners of the Brighton Beach racing associations met in the office of August Belmont yesterday to discuss ways and means of restoring to the various plants the revenue lost since the money provided by the bookmakers was cut off. If any decision was arrived at, it was not made public, and each member of the committee refused to say anything at the meeting adjourned.

E. E. Smathers has decided to quit the running turf and will sell all his thoroughbreds at public auction in the paddock at Brighton Beach next Saturday. In his stable at present are nearly fifty head, including McChesney, for which he paid $20,000.

FOR WESTERN GOLF TITLE.

Annual Amateur Championship Begins To-day at Glen View.

The annual championship tournament of the Western Golf Association will start to-day on the links of the Glen View Club, near Chicago, and will continue the rest of the week. The competition will be played under the rules of the United States Golf Association. The winner will be the amateur champion of the Western Golf Association for the year and will have the custody of the George R. Thorne trophy until the next annual championship meeting.

The competition will consist of a qualifying round, at thirty-six holes, medal play, thirty-two to qualify. Those qualifying must then play match play rounds of eighteen holes each until the finals, which will be at thirty-six holes. Gold medals will be awarded to the winner of the championship and to the player making the lowest medal score in the qualifying round.

Robert Pinkerton, head of the Eastern Pinkerton forces that guard the local tracks, has returned from a long trip abroad, and was at Brighton Beach yesterday. He looks in far better health than when he left New-York last fall.
